Abstract: Today, English is recognized as the main means of global communication. The Republic of Uzbekistan, in connection with modern requirements and globalization processes, sees English as one of the languages that occupies an important place in the education system. The role of English in education is reflected not only in language learning, but also in the fields of culture, economy, science and technology. Therefore, it is important to think about the future of English education.

Keywords: English language, education, modern technologies, students, teaching methods, interactive programs.

INTRODUCTION

First of all, it is necessary to talk about changes and developments in the English language education system. The government of the Republic of Uzbekistan is implementing a number of programs aimed at creating the necessary conditions for learning English. Within the framework of these programs, measures such as improving the qualifications of English language teachers, developing modern teaching materials and updating English language teaching methods are being implemented. It also focuses on the process of teaching English from pre-school to higher education.

MATERIALS AND METHODS

In the future, the main goal of English education is not only to learn the language, but also to prepare students to solve global problems. For this, it is necessary to use interactive and practical methods in teaching English. Teaching students to communicate in English, express themselves and solve problems is important for developing their creative thinking skills. At the same time, the use of modern technologies in the process of teaching English, the introduction of distance learning platforms, serves to increase the interest of students. It is also important to increase students' motivation in the process of learning English.[1]

Various contests, competitions and activities should be organized to encourage students to learn English. Through this, students will have the opportunity to engage in interesting and useful activities while learning English. It is also important to encourage students to cooperate and develop the ability to work in a group in the process of teaching English.[2]

RESULTS AND DISCUSSIONS

When talking about the future of English language education, the role of teachers is also of particular importance. Teachers need to be highly qualified in teaching English, know modern teaching methods and take into account the needs of students. The process of English language teaching can be made more effective by continuous training of teachers, mastering of new methods and technologies. For this, it is important to organize various seminars, trainings and courses for the preparation of teachers and their professional development. The future of English language education also depends on curriculum renewal. Curriculum updating in accordance with modern requirements should include knowledge and skills necessary to prepare students for real-life situations. It is important to focus on the development of English communication skills in the curriculum, giving students the opportunity to communicate in English in real-life situations.[3]

In the future, the process of learning English should continue not only in schools and universities, but also in various additional educational institutions. It is necessary to organize various courses, seminars and trainings to expand the opportunities for students to learn English, to increase their interest and to further strengthen their interest in learning English. Through this, students will have the opportunity to strengthen their knowledge and communicate more freely in English.[4]

The future of English language education also depends on international cooperation. It is possible to improve the quality of education by developing cooperation with international educational institutions of Uzbekistan, studying and introducing international experiences in the process of learning English. International cooperation creates new opportunities for teachers and students, helps to improve their knowledge and skills. Also, through international exchange programs, students have the opportunity to communicate freely in English. The future of English education is also related to the economic development of our country. In order to successfully operate in the global economy, knowledge of the English language is necessary. For the economic development of Uzbekistan and the expansion of international relations, it is important to train specialists who know English. Therefore, it is possible to contribute to the economic development of our country by strengthening the process of learning English, giving students knowledge and skills in English.[5]

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, the future of English language education in the Republic of Uzbekistan is very promising. The process of learning English is developing in accordance with modern requirements. It is important to prepare students to communicate freely in English, develop their creative thinking skills and prepare them to solve global problems. It is possible to improve the quality of English language education and contribute to the economic development of our country through teachers, educational programs and international cooperation. Therefore, the future of English language education is an important task for all of us.
